

CURRENT RELATIONSHIP

Where's It Going Reading??

£25.00

This style of reading has been created to give you an insight into the possibility whether or not your current relationship (6 months or more) has any legs to it. Basically, this means will this relationship fizzle out or continue to grow strength to strength.

You may want to find what is actually happening to the DIRECTION of your Current Relationship if you have been experiencing a lack of romance, insecure feelings or noticed that your partner is becoming increasingly distant or perhaps you are bored and want to find out where the relationship is headed.

The Tarot is an excellent tool to find out if there are resolutions to the issues within the relationship and if there are other outside influences perhaps you ought to be aware of. The cards will also give prospectus of how the other person possibly feels about you and the direction of the relationship and also review the possible future energy of the relationship. This style of reading is for those that are ‘romantically involved’ for 6 months or longer.

The reading length is usually about a full page or more sometimes but provides more than enough information to allow you to gain a good idea about the energy of the relationship and how perhaps your partner is viewing the status of the relationship too. A great reading to view the possibilities of strengthening the energy of your current relationship.

After I have conducted your reading I’ll forward it to you via email immediately for you to read wherever you are in the world. To allow me to connect strongly with you for this style of reading it’s better to order it if you are ‘actually romantically involved with a person of more than 6 months.’

Disclaimer:

Whilst I always endeavour to provide a fantastic reading, I cannot be held accountable for any outcome that does not manifest. You ought to view the readings as entertainment and mostly as an experiment but mainly because you have the free-will to make decisions as you see fit and if, I've indicated a possibility which actually manifests in your life you have the right to decide whether or not you wish to pursue that direction of love. Either way you always have the upper hand to manoeuvre your way through life as you see fit and with may you find the reading pleasing, uplifting and accurate in many ways. You must be aged 18 to accept my free reading and please note due to payment for my time only, no refunds are offered. With love Anne-Marie x

“Thank You Anne-Marie

The reading gave so much clarity and has definitely helped!!”
